

Saeculum
Undergraduate Academic Journal

Volume 12, Number 1
Spring 2017

Table of Contents

| | |
|---|-----------|
| Meet the Team | 1 |
| About the Cover | 3 |
| From the Editor's Desk | 4 |
| Gershon & Roza Lewkowitz Prize | |
| The Missing Accusation: The Circumcision Case of Odard and the Legacy of St William of Norwich Julia Tomlinson | 6 |
| Essays | |
| Letter from Phoebe to Paul (61 CE) Kirill Lepekhin | 26 |
| Religious Reform as Political Stability in France Under Henry IV and Louis XIV Elisabetta Kerr | 42 |
| A Great Light: The Effect of Modernisation within the Catholic Church in Quebec on the Development of the Quiet Revolution Elspeth Gibson | 54 |

Meet the Team

Andrea Nicole Carandang, Editor-in-Chief

Andrea Nicole Carandang is in her fourth year of the Concurrent Teaching Education Program, pursuing a major in Christianity and Culture and minors in History and Indigenous Studies, at the University of St. Michael's College. She has been a part of Saeculum since her second year and has enjoyed reading and editing thought-provoking essays on Christianity and Culture, particularly in areas that she has not explored within her studies. She hopes to pursue graduate studies exploring the application of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission in the realm of secondary or post-secondary education.

Emma Graham, Associate Editor

Emma Graham is in her third year of Christianity and Culture and History at the University of St. Michael's College. She joined Saeculum so she could learn more about the process of journal development and to increase her knowledge of topics related to Christianity and Culture. In the future, she hopes to complete her Masters of Divinity or Theology at St. Michael's College and become a chaplain in a high school or work for the Office of Catholic Youth.

Aidan Reid, Editor

Aidan Reid is a second-year student studying semiotics, linguistics, and literature and critical theory. He has a particular interest in early Christianity and wants to find ways to read and edit works about Christianity for as long as he possibly can.

Amira Abdalla, Editor

Amira Abdalla is a second-year student who is completing her major in Neuroscience and Christianity and Culture. Along with her academic responsibilities, Amira also enjoys her volunteer work at the Mount Sinai Hospital, her research work with the organ transplantation clinic at UHN, working with a University of Toronto Model UN organization, and her work with Campus Ministry at St. Michael's College. She joined Saeculum Journal due to her passion for exploring Christian tradition and its relationship with art, science and philosophy. She is excited to be supporting and sharing faith and culture with the rest of the team of the Saeculum!

Dr. Reid B. Locklin, Faculty Advisor, Editor

Reid B. Locklin is an Associate Professor of Christianity and the Intellectual Tradition at the University of Toronto, a joint appointment with St Michael's College and the Department for the Study of Religion. Dr. Locklin grew up in Athens, Georgia, completed a BA in Humanities at the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga, an MTS from Boston University, and a PhD in Theology from Boston College in 2003. He has taught at the University of Toronto since 2004.